ABSTRACT

Dermatology is essential part of General Medicine. In today's materialistic world, every one desires for lustrous, glowing and beautiful skin. Thus, skin plays a pivotal role in every one's life. In addition to physical discomfort, it inflicts great impact on patient's mind. Even though beauty is skin deep, its significance in modern world is greater. The vast turnover of beauty aid products is itself a clear point to this fact. Skin is the largest organ of the body interacting with the environmental agents like physical, chemical, biological and all sorts of pollutants. Kusta is a broad term mentioned in Charaka Samhita which infers to all types of skin diseases under one umbrella and was categorised as Mahakusta (7) and Kshudrakusta (11). The aim of this review is to enlighten the work on curative drugs recommended in different chapters of Classical texts of Ayurveda for all skin diseases. The review explains Monograph of individual drug and specific drugs. This work stimulate Researchers to evaluate their efficacy by conducting Pharmaceutical and Clinical Researches on various varieties of Kusta.

KEYWORDS: Dermatology, Kusta, Mahakusta, Kshudrakusta, Ayurveda.

INTRODUCTION

Ayurveda, “The science of life” is the way of living according to the laws of the nature. It is not merely a science of diseases and drugs but has its sphere in every aspect of life. Healthy skin plays a major role in person’s self esteem and is a key component of the image they present to the external world. Acharya Charaka has mentioned all types of skin diseases under one roof as ‘Kusta’. Most of the skin diseases are recurrent in nature and need a wholesome approach for their management along with prevention of their recurrence. Skin diseases especially Auto immunes are spreading like the wildfire and affecting major proportion of the world’s population thus, this is the need of the time to conduct wide range of Clinical and Pharmaceutical Researches to establish proper module of management for the wide range of skin diseases. Ayurvedic classical texts have a plethora of the drugs for the management of varieties of skin diseases elicited under Kusta. This work is an attempt for facilitating further Clinical and Pharmaceutical Researches for establishing proper and effective therapies by availing the herbal, mineral and herbo mineral formulations of the Ayurvedic Classical texts for the treatment of Kusta at one place.

CONCLUSION

Skin diseases are very difficult to treat due to their relapsing nature and require prolonged treatment. Thus, safer drugs with optimum efficacy are more rational option along with proper dietary and daily regimen. Ayurveda offers a ray of hope for the satisfactory management of these diseases through shamana (pacification) and sodhana (purification) treatment modalities. Clinically efficient, safe and economical single and compound formulations for the management of Kusta are reviewed from classical Ayurvedic texts and enlisted in the form of tables. Hence an attempt has been made to glance at all the formulation encrypted in different Classics as Kustaharas. However, adequate Researches need to be carried out for establishing the efficacy and safety of the drugs in the days to come.
